

Rossana Salomone was a 28 year old DAREDEVIL from Italy. At first glance she appeared to be petite but she walked with an air of confidence. No one would expect her to be such a risk taker or daredevil. She was short, only 5'3". Her brunette hair was often thrown up in a ponytail or bun since she was often so busy. Although she appeared to be a snob, the moment you looked into her dark brown eyes and talked to her, you knew she was a sweetheart. Her parents, Orlando and Katarina Salomone, were both from Italy. Shortly after Rossana was born, her parents decided to move to the United States. Rossana loved living in the United States because of all of the freedom. She was an adventurous young child who enjoyed learning to surf, playing rough sports and paragliding. As time went on she became more adventurous and took it a step farther by cliff diving, jumping out of planes and swimming with sharks. When she was a teenager, Rossana knew that being a daredevil was going to be her profession. Rossana graduated high school at 18, despite her poor grades. Although her parents wanted her to go to college, she thought the extra schooling was unnecessary, so she chose to pursue her career. Rossana loved her job and life. Rossana's only secret was her fear of commitment. No one would have believed this because she appeared fearless in everything else. Later on, Rossana moved back to Italy where she met Eugenio and fell in love with him. She taught Eugenio to take risks, while he taught her how to cook and get along with other people.
